

Sustainable management for European local ports

Newsletter N° 5 – November 2012

Final Conference of the SuPorts project!

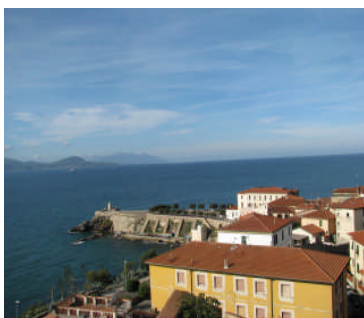

It is with great pleasure that Seine Maritime County Council will welcome the final conference of the project on the 4th of December 2012 in its offices.

The conference will be organized through round tables relating to the 4 topics explored by SuPorts. The 10 partners of our project will have the opportunity to present their achievements during the whole duration of the project.

For more information as well as the draft agenda of the conference, please consult the SuPorts website:

<http://www.seinemaritime.net/suports/>

Dredging Workshop in Piombino review, 17th of October 2012:

The Piombino port Authority, partner of the SuPorts project, held on the 16th of October a workshop on dredging, being one of the themes tackled by the project.

Entitled “Dredging in the European Union: Regulations, problems and best practices”, the workshop brought together many stakeholders involved in the process: Port managers from small and big ports of Europe, a European dredging association’s representative, research institutes as well as dredging companies engineers.

To access the presentations given during the workshop, click on the link below

<http://www.seinemaritime.net/suports/workshop-on-dredging-in-piombino-italy-17th-of-october-2012.html>

SuPorts at the Open Days 2012!

For a decade, the committee of the Regions of the European Union has been organizing around October an international event in Brussels dedicated to the cooperation between local administrations of Europe. From the 08th to the 11th of October, around 20 conferences and workshops per day were organized the Regional policy related topics and especially on territorial cooperation.

To read more about SuPorts during the Open days go to this page:

<http://www.seinemaritime.net/suports/news/suports-goes-to-brussels-for-the-open-days.html>

Results from the workshops on Biodiversity protection and Stakeholders management 6-7th of September 2012 in Thessaloniki and Lagos, GR

On the 6th and 7th of September, was held in Thessaloniki and Lagos, Greece, the 2nd workshops both for Biodiversity protection and Stakeholders management.

All the SuPorts partnership was represented and some external experts attended the event. Being in Thessaloniki, great involvement from the Aristotle University staff has to be noted: Professors working on marine biology, climate change, stakeholders management and port development gave presentations on the two subjects tackled here by the SuPorts partnership.

To access more information on the report go to this page:

<http://www.seinemaritime.net/suports/workshop-on-biodiversity-and-stakeholders-management-thessaloniki-september-2012.html>

What future for European Local Ports? Open Days local event organized by partner CITTALIA

On the 9th of November in Rome, our SuPorts partner CITTALIA - the research institute of the Italian municipalities association – has organized a seminar in the framework of the SuPorts project and included in the official calendar of the Open Days 2012 local events promoted by the European Commission and by the Committee of the Regions.

To get more information, consult the page at this link

<http://www.seinemaritime.net/suports/news/what-future-for-european-local-ports-od-local-event-by-partner-cittalia.html>

www.suports.net

